THE TRADITIONAL CHINESE DISCIPLINES

Our services are intended for private individuals and businesses alike.

The energy of a place can affect different aspects of your life. A Feng Shui consultation aims to understand the energies in your environment, to bring them into harmony with your own.

By harnessing the positive energy of your habitat and its surroundings, you can improve your well-being and equip yourself with the means to bring about positive improvements in many aspects of your life (family, health, love, work, etc.)

A Ba Zi analysis can tell us much about ourselves, making it a powerful tool for personal development and transformation. It involves identifying the deeply-anchored mechanisms that interfere in our decision-making processes and relationships with others.

By revealing our untapped potential, Ba Zi enables us to act and make decisions in full awareness, and opens up new possibilities in different areas of our lives.

A Yi Jing consultation will help you to find answers, when faced with a certain question in an uncertain situation. By seeking to understand the potential outcome of a decision and to clarify where you stand, Yi Jing enables you to make enlightened choices with respect for your own free-will.

FOR INDIVIDUALS

Appreciate the long term benefits of these three complementary disciplines !

When should you seek a Feng Shui consultation ?

- Building a new home
- Moving home
- Carrying out renovations
- If you are looking to improve your existing living space to promote well-being in an area important to you (love, health, career, parenthood, personal development, etc.)

Whatever your circumstances and the area you want to work on, a Feng Shui consultation can help eliminate negative energies from a place, and replace them with beneficial ones.

A Ba Zi analysis will give you a better insight into yourself and can accompany a variety of projects, such as :

- Personal development
- Professional orientation, finding your vocation or moving to a different career path
- Harmonising your relationship or finding the right life partner
- Improving your physical quality of life

Unlock your potential and act in full awareness !

In your private life, a Yi Jing can help you to :

- Better understand a situation in which you find yourself
- Channel your energy in order to achieve your goals more easily
- Choose the right time to act, on the dates most propitious for you

FOR BUSINESSES

Harness the power of Chinese traditional arts to help your organisation grow and prosper!

Building a new site ?

Planning to open a new branch ?

Are you perhaps not entirely satisfied with your existing site (office, shop, restaurant, mall, doctor's office or factory) ?

Calling on the services of a Feng Shui expert can be an excellent way to improve your organisation's strategic and structural potential.

Equip your organisation with the resources to really influence your objectives, in particular by:

- Improving your results
- Capitalizing on key personnel
- Reducing absenteeism

A Ba Zi analysis is an effective tool for :

- Developing your employees' skills and capabilities
- Selecting the right candidate when recruiting

By optimizing resources within your organisation, you can identify the right position for each employee to flourish, while maximizing their area of competence.

Yi Jing applies to a range of different business situations, whether as part of a growth strategy (new markets, products or services) or when signing contracts.

By shining a new light on your decision-making processes, Yi Jing can help you take the right action at the right time to maximise your chances of success.
